THE WEST-SIDE WAREHOUSE PLAN.

The examination of John C. Thompson and Ray Throughout on a charge of arson, proceeding from the burning of the Quarantine buildings, was resumed yesterday at 10½ A. M., at the Lyceum, Stapleton. Mr. Bowen W. Peckham appeared in behalf of the State, and Mr. Ira Cleave represented the County of Richmond. The witnesses promptly attended, accompanied by Mr. Anthon, their counsel.

On the opening of the Court Mr. Anthon remarked that he believed it covered a misapprehension which had occurred, which was calculated to place him in a false position. He referred to the circumstance of the examination of Mr. Throughout. The representatives of the press were not present at the examination in the forenoon, and in the absence of the reporters he had not objected to questions which he would have objected to had the reporters been present. He had supposed that the examination would be private, and that the reporters would be excluded, as had been granted in the case of Mr. Thompson. He had not objected to questions which he would have objected to had the reporters been present. He had supposed that the examination would be private, and that the reporters would be excluded, as had been granted in the case of Mr. Thompson. He had not objected to questions which he would have objected to had the reporters been present.

Mr. Peckham—I have no objection to the reporters being present.

Mr. Anthon—I am glad to hear it. I have no objection to the reporters being

From Our Own Correspondent.

LONDON, Friday, Sept. 17, 1852.

The treaty with China has at length been given to the Western World in extenso. Its substance was, briefly, the admission of Europeans to trade at certain Chinese ports, and the payment of a certain sum for the expenses of the war. Of course, the Emperor of China is not to be forced to receive Ambassadors, or to allow the introduction of opium. Canton is not to be opened, nor is the Yang-tse-kiang to be navigated by foreigners. The Chinese are to be allowed to trade with Europeans at Shanghai, Ningpo, Amoy and Foochow-foo, and the Europeans are to be allowed to trade with the Chinese at Canton, Amoy, Foochow-foo, Ningpo and Shanghai. Europeans are to be allowed to purchase land at the ports, and to build churches, hospitals, &c. Chinese are to be allowed to emigrate to Europe, and Europeans are to be allowed to emigrate to China. Chinese are to be allowed to study in Europe, and Europeans are to be allowed to study in China. Chinese are to be allowed to purchase ships of war, and Europeans are to be allowed to sell them to the Chinese. Chinese are to be allowed to purchase arms, and Europeans are to be allowed to sell them to the Chinese. Chinese are to be allowed to purchase gunpowder, and Europeans are to be allowed to sell it to the Chinese. Chinese are to be allowed to purchase steamers, and Europeans are to be allowed to sell them to the Chinese. Chinese are to be allowed to purchase machinery, and Europeans are to be allowed to sell it to the Chinese. Chinese are to be allowed to purchase telegraphs, and Europeans are to be allowed to sell them to the Chinese. Chinese are to be allowed to purchase railroads, and Europeans are to be allowed to sell them to the Chinese. Chinese are to be allowed to purchase steam-engines, and Europeans are to be allowed to sell them to the Chinese. Chinese are to be allowed to purchase gas-works, and Europeans are to be allowed to sell them to the Chinese. Chinese are to be allowed to purchase—but I am getting tired of this. Suffice it to say that the Chinese are to be allowed to purchase everything that they can get, and Europeans are to be allowed to sell them everything that they can get them to buy. Of course, the Chinese will be very glad to get the treaty signed, and Europeans will be very glad to get it signed, and the Chinese will be very glad to get it broken, and Europeans will be very glad to get it broken, and the Chinese will be very glad to get it signed again, and Europeans will be very glad to get it signed again, and the Chinese will be very glad to get it broken again, and Europeans will be very glad to get it broken again

NEWS OF THE DAY.

A dispatch from Mr. Lowell, the scientific resident at Trinity Bay from Atlantic to Pacific, to the effect that the Government of Mexico has resolved to grant a concession for the construction of a railroad from Trinity Bay to the Rio Grande, to connect with the Texas Pacific road at Eagle Pass. The road is to be completed in four years, and the concession is to be forfeited if the work is not finished in that time. It is to be built by a company of Mexican capitalists, and the Government is to grant them a subsidy of $10,000 per mile. The road will be 150 miles long, and will pass through Monterey, Saltillo, and Monclova. The Texas Pacific road is to be completed to Trinity Bay by the 1st of January, 1882. The Mexican road will be 350 miles from Trinity Bay to the Rio Grande, and will be completed in 1884. The Texas Pacific road will be 1,200 miles long, and will be completed in 1884. The Texas Pacific road will be 1,200 miles long, and will be completed in 1884. The Texas Pacific road will be 1,200 miles long, and will be completed in 1884.
